As the edible portion of the fruit is seeds, there is a risk of choking and hence you need to strip off the flesh from the seeds before giving it to your baby.